

On-Campus Education Restart

MIT has recently begun planning for Fall 2020 classes, with an announcement that some students (primarily fourth year students, but also some younger students by petition) will come for an early semester.

The plans differ for undergraduates and graduate students:

- MIT guidelines for graduate students in Fall 2020

Additionally many students are concerned about immigration status, the latest information from the International Students Office can be found here.

MKI students with additional questions should reach out to Scott Hughes concerning graduate student issues, or Nergis Mavalvala concerning undergraduate issues.
